

SALOON KEEPER IS KILLED BY A DEPUTY MARSHAL

James L. George Fires Bullet Into Head of Thomas H. English in the Latter's Saloon

After a hand-to-hand fight with Deputy Marshal James L. George, at 4:15 o'clock Thursday evening, Thomas H. English, proprietor of a saloon at 430 Marietta street, was shot and instantly killed by the marshal.

According to witnesses, English, who lived at 15 Graham street, related the affair and drew a gun on the marshal. The marshal fired first, his bullet penetrating English's temple, reaching the brain.

Chief Marshal W. T. Buchanan and Deputies L. L. Johnson and David P. Moran, all of the municipal court, were with George, himself a deputy of that court. They all had come to levy under a $1000 writ.

George, it is said, attempted to take the cash register when English resisted him. After struggling with the marshal, George and English rolled along the bar, when English, witnesses state, reached for a gun lying behind the bar. He seized this pistol, and the other deputies saw, George jerked it away from him.

When English is said to have tried to get hold of another revolver lying behind the bar, as he reached for this, George fired and killed him.

A different version of the shooting is told by George Manas, 124 Mangum street, and by W. R. Clower, 20 West North avenue, who claim to be eye witnesses of the affair.

According to Manas' story, the four marshals walked into the saloon and all of them talked to English. After this conversation, said Manas, English went to the cash register and began taking out the money. Then, Manas states, Deputy Marshal George separated from the other marshals, and walked by English, behind the bar. After this, according to Manas, George turned toward him and fired.

English did not reach for two pistols which were lying near the bar, Manas said, but fell dead upon the floor.

W. R. Clower, who works in the bar, substantiates this story in every particular. He do do other witnesses.

Friends of Deputy Marshal George, however, question the story of Manas and Clower and the other alleged witnesses. Many of these friends, lawyers and others who have known George his official capacity for years, say that George was not a saloon keeper and never fired at another except in the last possible method of protecting his own life.

Accompanied by the three other marshals, George was taken at once to police headquarters by Patrolmen Hood and Bailey. Here George surrendered to Night Chief Jett.

George was then taken to the Tower, where bond was assessed at $1000. He made this bond, and was released.

The body of the dead man was taken to Harry Poole's establishment, he is survived by one son, Maurice, his father, T. L. English, and three brothers, all living eight miles out in Fulton county.

They came to Atlanta at once to see about the funeral arrangements. They say the funeral will probably take place Saturday at Collins Springs in Clarke county, the old burying ground ground.

THREE KILLED, ONE HURT IN FIGHT IN ROAD HOUSE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Three men were instantly killed, two others shot to kill the proprietor of a road house, and David Williams, one of ten men said to have been gambling when the shooting began. Roman escaped injury, dying later, and a fourth was badly wounded in a fight in a road house on the outskirts of the city late last night. The victims were Joe Bailey and Edward Donevan, bandits, who entered the place.

ROOSEVELT KEEPS TWO STENOGRAPHERS ON THE GO

Several Thousand Communications Arrive at Oyster Bay Since Colonel's Return

(By Associated Press.)
OYSTER BAY, N. Y., May 22.—Two stenographers were required to keep pace with Colonel Roosevelt this morning as he made his way through a mass of letters and telegrams and dictated replies.

Several thousand communications had come to Oyster Bay since the colonel's return from South America. His secretary sorted out those which required the colonel's immediate attention and after they had been sent down to a minimum they were still several hundred left.

The colonel sent post-haste to New York for an extra stenographer. Colonel Roosevelt declined to see callers during the morning. Later in the day several neighbors were expected for another of the series of political conferences which he is crowding into the brief time before his departure for St. Louis Tuesday.

He expects to start Tuesday for Washington, where he will address the National Geographic society that evening. Aside from this trip he expects to remain home until he leaves on May 26 for Spain.

W. R. Clower, who works in the bar, substantiates this story in every particular. He do do other witnesses.

"WILD WOMEN" CONTINUE THEIR OUTRAGES IN LONDON

Six Valuable Paintings Destroyed by Militants in Galleries of London

LONDON, May 22.—The "wild women" of the Women's Social and Political Union, the militant suffragette organization, today continued their terrorizing tactics by making two separate attacks on the National Art treasures.

The first of the attacks in the vicinity of Buckingham palace, where a column of women marched yesterday attempted to reach the king with a petition, barely had subsided when early today a woman, armed with a loaded cane, rushed five masterpieces in the National gallery.

Almost simultaneously another woman wrecked a picture in the Royal Academy of Art. Both women were arrested. A little later, the magistrate before whom were brought the fifty-seven women arrested in connection with yesterday's disturbance, was compelled to adjourn the proceedings because the accused created such a din nothing could be heard.

HARRIS READY FOR HIS CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR

Arrives in Atlanta Today—Will Make Opening Speech in Cedartown Saturday

William J. Harris, of Cedartown, who several days ago announced his candidacy for the governorship, arrived in Atlanta Friday at noon from Washington. He is to open his gubernatorial campaign with a speech at Cedartown on Saturday.

Mr. Harris says that early next week he will write to Senator W. S. Venable, vice chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, and resign as a chairman of the committee. Before leaving Washington he verbally tendered his resignation as director of the United States census to Secretary of Commerce W. C. Redfield.

"I am in this campaign to win," declared Mr. Harris, and I do not propose that the politicians shall divert the attention of the people away from the important issues such as the re-reading of the Western and Atlantic railroad."

Mr. Harris leaves Friday afternoon for Cedartown, where he speaks at noon on Saturday. Saturday afternoon he will go to Rome to spend Sunday with his brother, Prof. J. C. Harris, president of the Rome schools. On Monday he will return to Atlanta for the day. Tuesday and Wednesday he will be in attendance upon the Odd Fellows convention at Macon.

W. R. Clower, who works in the bar, substantiates this story in every particular. He do do other witnesses.

How About YOUR BOY?

About how many pairs of shoes does he wear out in a year?
Spozen you could cut this in half, wouldn't it be worth while?

Listen—here's how:
We make a lot of shoes for Cuba and Central America. They require very light soles and buy boys' sizes for men. This leaves a lot of overweight sole leather that we cannot use in our regular line of men's shoes.

Two years ago we began making our King Bee grade in boys' sizes.
The good measure in wear goes into the soles, doubling the service with no extra cost. We want the boys of Georgia and Atlanta to wear these shoes.

We want the mothers who care about the cost to try them and make the saving.
We want the fathers who pay the bills to think it over and vote for a trial.
Here are the brands to call for:
Small boys' "Play Time" Oxfords,
8 to 12, $1.50.
12½ to 2, $1.75.
"Open Air",
9 to 12, $2.00.
12½ to 2, $2.50.
"Real Boy", an outing shoe,
9 to 13½, $2.00.
1 to 5, $2.50.

In brown and black.
Dress Up Welts,
1 to 5, $2.50 to $3.50.

On sale in many places, but a full line of widths and sizes can be found at the

ADAIR CERTAIN ATLANTA CAN WIN SHRINE MEET

Ad Men Are Told It Will Not Be Hard to Get Convention in 1917

Atlanta can win the Shriners again for 1917 said Forrest Adair potentate of Yasrab temple at the luncheon tendered him by the Atlanta Ad Men's club Thursday afternoon in the Ansley. He has pledged already a majority of the votes among the representatives who attend regularly year after year the meetings of the imperial council.

Cheers and applause greeted this assertion. Mr. Adair said Atlanta has won the Shriners, as is attested by the scores of letters he is receiving daily from those who were here.

"And I believe we can win the next national Democratic convention," said he, applause stopping him there. "They will not be able to cast doubt on our ability to take care of their numbers. We had more people here on Tuesday and Wednesday of Shrine week than they had in Baltimore all during the session of the convention that nominated Mr. Wilson."

The suggestion that Atlanta arrange an annual week of carnival play was offered by Julian Boehm and received several endorsements. A committee was appointed by President Harry Goodhart to consider the matter and make report. The committee is composed of David, Julian Boehm, Fred Houser, St. Elmo Massengale and L. D. Hicks.

Further big game that lies ahead of Atlanta was pointed out by S. C. Dabbs, former president of the Associated Advertising clubs of America.

"Atlanta is ready now for the ad men," said he. "A few years ago they would have come here, but we were not ready to entertain them. Now we can get them, I believe, for 1916."

Fred Houser, secretary of the convention bureau, inserted in an undertone, "I've been trying for three years to get him to say that."

St. Elmo Massengale reported big plans in hand by the "On to Toronto" committee of the Ad Men. The Atlanta delegation to the annual meeting will leave here about the middle of June. Exceptionally low railroad rates for the round trip have been offered.

Major F. E. Callaway reported everything ready for the ball game next Wednesday, the proceeds of which are to go to the "On to Toronto" fund. A number of the ad men took seats for sale, and the entire membership will boost attendance at the game.

JUDGE POTTLE'S DECISION IS HIGHLY COMMENDED

In affirming the decision of the Georgia court of appeals in the case of Browning vs. the City of Waycross the United States supreme court, through Chief Justice White, says a high compliment to the opinion in this case, which was written by Judge J. R. Pottle, then a member of the appellate court.

This opinion is referred to by Justice White as a careful and discriminating presentation of the law. The case involved the right of the city of Waycross to impose an occupation tax. The plaintiff contended that to levy such a tax was violative of the interstate commerce clause of the federal constitution. The city of Waycross was sustained.

WORKING GIRLS' HOME IS PLANNED FOR ATLANTA

Sortority Women Back of Move to Build Institution on South Side

The Atlanta Pan-Hellenic, an organization of sortority women, has determined to build and maintain an adjacent to the Young Women's Christian association, a home for working girls to be located on the south side of the city. The initial step toward securing the land for this charity will be taken Thursday of next week, when the Pan-Hellenic has leased the Lyric theater and the performance to be given on that date by the Lucille LaVerne Stock company.

There will be no advance in the theater's regular prices. All of the boxes will be sold to the various college fraternities, represented by alumni here. Thursday will be society night at the Lyric and between the acts of the performance there will be dancing in the big lobby of the theater. The performance to be staged for the benefit of the proposed home is a comedy entitled "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary."

The leading lady of the company, an Atlanta girl, Miss Margaret Chaffin, is taking an especial interest in the benefit performance because she is a member of the Phi Mu Gamma fraternity, and many of her fraternity sisters are among the members of the Atlanta Pan-Hellenic.

A committee, composed of Mrs. William H. Seabrook, Miss Beale Kempton and Miss Elizabeth Miller, is in active charge of the work of raising the fund for the home and they are working industriously for the success of Thursday's performance at the Lyric.

MAYOR GETS ESTIMATES ON BIG ELECTRIC STAR
Favors Establishing "Isle of Safety" at Five Points, With Star Above It.

City Electrician R. C. Turner estimates it will cost $1,000 to permanently install at Five Points the huge electric star but there for the thirty cent, and cost $250 per year for the electric current to run it. His estimate was prepared at the request of Mayor Woodward and was furnished to the mayor Friday.

The mayor agrees with the electrician that it would be inadvisable to suspend the star between two poles, because it weighs 2,000 pounds and would give havoc with weather, wind and might destroy human life should it fall.

It is the mayor's idea, conceived in by the electrician, to establish at Five Points on "Isle of Safety" some six or eight feet square, elevated above the street pavement about the height of a curb, and in the center of this square to erect a steel pole on the top of which the star shall be fixed.

THREE MORE CONTRIBUTE TO FORREST ADAIR FUND

R. F. Shedden, W. T. Gentry and Miss Emily Davis Add $21 to the Total

Three new subscriptions were inserted into the strong box of the Forrest Adair fund, Friday, notwithstanding that the committee hoped last Monday to close the fund.

The three new ones came from R. F. Shedden, $10; W. T. Gentry, $10; and Miss Emily Davis, $1. Total, $21.

In a letter accompanying his subscription, Mr. Shedden said he was out of town, and on his return found his subscription hadn't been sent in. Subscriptions began to come in again at the time are coming in rapidly, and the committee believes every dollar will have been paid in a few more hours. Announcement was made Friday by the committee that it cannot set ready to present the citizens' tribute by Monday night, as previously arranged. Ya-ral temple will complement Potomac Adair with a dinner that evening in the Hills Golf club, and will present to him its own tribute. The presentation of the citizens' gift will be made at a later date, as soon as the committee can set ready.

Atlanta Boy Figures in Firing on Vera Cruz

Letter Received Here Tells How C. A. Brooks Handled Gun That Fired on Academy

In an interesting letter from Vera Cruz, H. M. Nichols, an Atlanta boy, formerly of 223 Highland avenue, a seaman on the cruiser San Francisco, tells how another Atlanta sailor on the same vessel, C. A. Brooks, handled the gun that wrecked the Mexican Naval academy during the capture of Vera Cruz.

"Brooks was the first pointer of our puny gun," writes Nichols to "The Journal." "That was the gun which wrought such havoc to the Naval academy of the Mexican government, with great loss of life to the 'spicks'."

Nichols does not explain what "spicks" are, but evidently this is a new name for Mexicans.

Accompanying the letter are photographs showing women and children, refugees, on board the San Francisco. The children seem to be happy, in spite of the fact that one of the photographs was taken while the guns of the cruiser were working destruction in the city of Vera Cruz.

There was also an interesting "Punch" Log of the U. S. S. San Francisco enclosed with the letter. This log is a weekly new bulletin published on board the ship.

The cadets of the Georgia Military academy and Marietta college will be present as an honorary escort for the governor and the ladies of the association.

Wins $6,375 Verdict
A verdict of $6,375 was returned Friday morning in the superior court against the Otis Elevator company in favor of Walter Wells, a 17-year-old boy who sued for $10,000 damages because of the mutilation of his arm in an elevator accident.

Wells was repairing an elevator in the Britannia hotel in 1912, according to the testimony, and something went wrong with the elevator. It crushed his arm and mutilated it so badly that he has not been able to use it since he says.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY DR. MARION MCK. NUTT.

May 24, 1914.

Luke 17:11-19.

Golden Text: He that glorifieth, let him glory in the Lord. I Cor. 1:31.

If there had never been any division into chapters and verses, it might have been easier for us to have understood the first ten verses of the seventeenth chapter, which constitute our lesson today. As a matter of fact there should be no break between 16:21 and 17:1. Let us take up the broken thread therefore, and see if we cannot tie the thought together again. Jesus closed the story of the rich man and Lazarus by speaking of the evil which existed in the world to such an extent that men would not believe, even though one were raised from the dead, if they refused to believe Moses and the prophets. He goes right on to say that the present state of things is so impossible to get rid of evil entirely. It is bound to exist. Occasions for stumbling, therefore, must be recognized and dealt with accordingly. He tells his disciples, however, to whom He had been speaking, that they must take great care lest they themselves become occasions for stumbling, and sets forth that an unforgiving spirit in us is as great a hindrance to our faith as it is to the faith of others. He says that if we have no such the quantity but the quality of their faith which counts.

The leaders of the Jews counted so much on merit given for doing good that Jesus was teaching His disciples to avoid this mistake; so He hastened to add, "But, when you have done everything that you ought to do, you are not entitled to reward. Doing one's duty does not merit a reward. This closed His discourse and discussion which had been originated by the criticism of the Pharisees that He relieved sinners and ate with them. The next record which Luke gives us is at another point along the journey through Persia to Jerusalem.

R. S. NOT R. B. Let us examine these verses a little more closely now that we have the connection, and learn from them the truth which Jesus was teaching His disciples, and would have us know and observe. What would you think of a man who would either intentionally or unintentionally place a stumbling block in the way of a child of a blind man? There would be no punishment which you would think would be too great for such a one. This is just the way Jesus felt about one who would be so mean to put an occasion of stumbling in the way of one of those poor blind sinners, who had just received Him as their Saviour. While it is impossible to get rid of evil entirely during this dispensation, that does not excuse one from being an occasion of stumbling in the way of one of the little ones. "Better," said Jesus, "it would be far better for him that a heavy millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea." Instead of being a stumbling block it is our duty as His disciples, to be stepping stones. There was just as much human nature in these disciples of His as there is in us now, so His warning to them fits us now just as well. If we are to be stepping stones and not stumbling blocks, there is one thing that we must avoid, and this is a very great thing. We must not allow ourselves to be dominated by an unforgiving spirit. There is always something harmful in it, which we may the smallest bit of faith, you could say to this mountain or this sea, and it should be done. The trouble with us is as with them, we have a poor quality of faith, and we do not improve it by using it. We are like the old woman who prayed that the mountain might be moved from in front of her house; then got up from her knees and looked out of the door, saying, "Just as I expected, it is still there." "When you pray, believe that ye receive as ye ask (present tense), and ye shall have (future tense)." Trust God; ask Him; believe that the answer has started, and then wait until it arrives, being absolutely sure that it is on the way and will come. And if you had it already in your hand. That is faith, and the way to increase it is to use it.

No matter how much we seek the Father, and search with the spirit, and rejoice with the Father; no matter how wise we are in the use of mammon during the one chance that we have; no matter how unselfish we are in the use of that which God has entrusted to us; no matter if we have faith sufficient to remove mountains—under none of these or any other circumstances, can we ever win any merit from Christ. When we have done all that we could do, when we have exercised all the faith that it is possible for anybody to exercise, we must still say that we are unprofitable servants. Christ illustrated this by the story of the servant being brought in from the field and told he did not expect any thanks because he had done nothing but what he had been ordered to do.

We can never be profitable servants of God. We have become children of God, and He has done for us. He said that He might own us. We belong to Him. How can we ever repay Him? What can we ever do which will bring in to Jesus Christ enough to pay for that even, much less to exceed the cost of it? Therefore, we can never be profitable to Christ, because He spent so much on us. A man buys a piece of property because of some tenacious association. He pays an enormous price for it, so much that he can never rent it or sell it so as to yield any adequate profit from it. It is an unprofitable investment, but he holds it because he wants it. And so Jesus has paid the enormous price of His own life for you and for me, because He wants us, because He loves us; and nothing that we can ever do can in any wise repay Him for that, even though we did all day, every bit of all—that is expected of us, and none of us ever do that.

Yet He does not begrudge the expenditure. He is satisfied if you will just accept Him as your Saviour and follow Him as your Lord. That is all He asks. Seeing He has paid such a price for you, will you not acknowledge His ownership of you, and do what you can for Him, to show your appreciation of what He has done for you?

MRS. FUNK UNABLE TO SPEAK IN ATLANTA

Atlanta suffragists were keenly disappointed Thursday night because Mrs. Antoinette Funk, of Chicago, who was to have delivered a course at the state capitol, found it impossible to reach Atlanta because of illness.

About 30 women gathered to hear her speak, but Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia Suffrage association, read a telegram announcing Mrs. Funk's inability to come.

Rev. Fred Leonard J. Grossman and others delivered addresses.

Be Honest With Yourself, Study the Cause for Your Looks

"Be honest with yourself," says the Health Teacher. What is it that gives you that sallow complexion, those listless eyes, furrows on your face, which should be smooth? Probably you think your health is good, but there must be some reason, and more often than not your troubles are caused by a sluggish liver and disordered stomach. A good complexion, clear skin, a good appetite and a feeling of health and strength are every person's desire, and there is no reason why they should not have them all.

Well known lady living in this city, who does not wish her name published, told me: "I thought I was in fair health, but kept getting thinner and thinner. I was so yellow I thought my complexion must be gone forever. I was troubled with pimples on my face and was told that the life and sparkle had left my eyes; felt dull and listless; getting up in the morning more tired than when I lay down at night. I am a mother and believe I love my family as much as anyone can, but I found I was getting cross with my children and snappy with my husband. It took me some time to realize this, but when I did, I thought there must be a cause, and I must cure that cause. I had been reading of the cures that the Quaker Extract had been making among some people I am acquainted with and concluded to give it a trial. Now, in less than three weeks my husband and children are once more glad to meet me with kisses and my friends exclaim when I meet them: 'How well you look! You may rest assured that I will at ways speak well of the Quaker Extract. It has done so much for me.' Don't put it off any longer, but get started on the road to health today. The Quaker Remedies can be obtained at Courney & Mun's Drug Store, 21 Marietta street. If you suffer with stomach, bladder or blood troubles, indigestion, constipation, start today; get well. The Quaker Extract will cure you the same as it has cured hundreds of others. Call today. Three for $2.50 or five for $5.00; Old of Balm, 25c or five for $1.50. We prepare all express charges on all orders of $2.50 or over.—(Adv.)

ELKS WILL FIGHT FOR SESSION HERE IN 1916

Resolution Put on Record of Atlanta Lodge Inviting Convention to This City

By formal resolution proposed by Colonel Walter P. Andrews, past exalted ruler, Atlanta lodge, No. 12, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, passed last night at its regular meeting, the lodge has invited the 1916 session of the Elks grand lodge to be held in Atlanta.

A number of enthusiastic speeches were made in favor of the resolution, which was adopted without a dissenting vote. The dominant conviction was that the price is so low Atlanta cannot afford to overlook the opportunity now at hand to win it.

Attached to the resolution was a proposition to have the Elks lodge in cooperation. Under that proposition, on motion by Colonel Andrews, past ruler H. H. Milner was authorized to appoint a committee composed of all past exalted rulers and other members of the lodge, to ascertain the sentiment of the lodge as to the desirability of the Elks lodge and business interests in the matter. A fund between $75,000 and $100,000 will be necessary for the entertainment of the grand lodge, said Colonel Andrews.

The grand lodge will meet this summer in Denver. Work will be commenced there for Atlanta, if the action of the local lodge is taken. The Elks lodge, at which the 1916 meeting of the Elks lodge will be held at any point on the Pacific coast, probably either at Seattle or San Francisco.

WANTS HIS BODY GIVEN TO WIFE WHEN HE'S HANGED

Negro Confesses to Killing Savannah Watchman—Expects No Clemency

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) SAVANNAH, Ga., May 22.—It is expected that there will be a speedy trial of Aaron Brown, Peter Alston and Henry Adams, the three negroes who are in the homicide charged with the killing of Peter of Duberry, the aged watchman of the plant of the American Agricultural company on the Georgia coast, has confessed and in doing so has not even asked that clemency be shown him.

"All I want is for you to give my body back to my wife," he said to the chief of police, evidently taking it for granted that he is to be hanged. The three negroes are distinctly relaxed.

GEORGIA POLITICS

MACON NEWS DOPES IT JUDGE BARRETT WONT RUN.

Because Judge Charles L. Barrett has failed to make reply to a series of telegrams inquiring whether he intended to seek reelection to congress from the sixth district, the Macon News has about concluded that the judge will be in the race.

The News says it has sent three separate telegrams to Judge Barrett and that he has not made them. It also says the Griffin News has had a similar experience with the judge.

J. Walter Wise, of Fayetteville, is vigorously campaigning for the congressional nomination in the sixth district. Two years ago he opposed Judge Barrett and was defeated by less than 200 votes.

It has been anticipated that Colonel John T. Boleff would be in the contest if Judge Barrett did not. However, Colonel Boleff has been remarkably quiet of late and has said nothing concerning his plans.

PORT GAINES INVITES POLITICIANS TO GIVE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) PORT GAINES, Ga., May 22.—Clay county is to have a barbecue on June 2 at Port Gaines and several candidates running for office have been requested to be here and discuss the issues of the coming campaign with the voters of the county.

Watson has also been invited to be present, but at the present time he is not responding. John L. Cooper, of Macon, will also be invited to be present.

There will be two games of baseball on that day and free automobile trips given over some of the fine public roads of the county and it is thought that the day will be one of the best ever had at Port Gaines.

THOMAS S. FELDER'S SPEAKING ITINERARY

CHARLES J. HADEN MAY RUN FOR LEGISLATURE.

Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia chamber of commerce, may be one of Fulton county's candidates for the legislature. A movement has been started with the object of bringing strong pressure upon Mr. Haden to cause him to make the race.

Mr. Haden is out of the city and has not been here for several days. He is said to have no knowledge of the movement. Mr. Haden is widely known throughout the state. For many years he has been an active member of the Atlanta chamber of commerce and when the state chamber was organized he was elected president.

Eddie Hanlon Surprises Fans by Knocking Perry Out in Third Round

LITTLE PAL---SURE, LITTLE PAL IS A FRIEND OF THE KIDS

- BY LEO

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

We trust that those, if any, who played our tip in regard to forecasting a winner in sport will kindly remember us in their wills. Our tip—if you'll recall it—was about this—take any game and do the situation out by the law of logical procedure and expected form—and then shoot your cash the other way. About eight times out of ten you'll be the one to step up and collect.

AS FOR INSTANCE—OR EXAMPLE.
The Giants won eight straight games and then at top speed dash into Redland. They have beaten the tar out of Pittsburgh, who in turn have put Rhineland to the sword. The dope says pick the Giants to beat the Reds to death. And at the end of the second game the Reds had not only won both, but had compiled a matter of fifteen runs.

The Yanks paddle the stuffing out of the Red Sox and buckle before the Tigers. And the Tigers get their turn from the Red Sox. All of which is old stuff—but it still carries.

THE LEO UPISING.
For what he has done so far, Buck Herzog deserves more credit than any leader in baseball. Miracles are few and further between, but he has certainly not one in Redland. As far as he has gone, we don't recall that any manager in the history of the game has accomplished as much—with as little to work on from the start—both in the way of material and tradition.

THE TRAVERS UPSET.
To the above upsets add the Travers slump in England. Here we find another pipe punnetted at both ends and in the middle.

Travers' defeat was almost as much of a sensation as Outim's victory last fall. Both, as things happened, were beyond the bound confines of the eternal dope.

A day or so ago we were discussing the intricacies of golf with Walter J. Travis. He had a part of the answer to Travis' case in advance. "In this game," he said, "no man can tell from his game of one day how he will be the next. No man can ever hope to master his score. The reason is simple. Golf is three games combined into one. The drive is an entirely different stroke from iron play, and putting is absolutely separate from both and totally unlike either.

NOT TO BE DIAGNOSED.
"On this account," continued the veteran, "it is impossible to tell when the slip up is coming. No man can tell at top form in one department and way off in another. No man can tell when all three will be working together, for no man can tell when his concentration will be good or when his mental and physical beings will be working in perfect coordination. It is largely for this reason that golf is the most interesting game ever devised for the player and always will be. For it carries a mystery that holds and never lets go."

TRAVERS AND TRAVIS.
When Travis won at Sandwich in 1904 he had been playing poorly for two weeks before the first match. He was far off his game and only started coming back the day of the tournament's beginning. When Travers followed him ten years later he had been playing brilliantly for a month—brilliantly up to the edge of the first battle. One entered just coming on to his game. The other just slipping back. The greatest feeling of confidence in the world comes from entering any tournament or any contest in the knowledge that one after a slump is riding back again and is coming forward. The only way to beat this contender is to use an axe or a gun. But he starts slipping backward he will generally beat himself if only let alone.

Travers hit his game a week too soon, just as Hilton did in 1912, when he lost the British title. Evans and Outim caught on just in time to get under way fast.

ANOTHER UPSET.
Golf has its upsets, but so do baseball. Take these Pirates. They tear the heart out of the league for a month, beating all hands with abandon and a brave show of elation. Then, just as they are being picked to make a snuff of world series sale, they drop a matter of six games out of seven starts and founder around like a startled flounder yanked from his home in the purring surf.

Excuse it? Fine chance. It merely happens, and while a number of excellent theories are always in order the correct answer is beyond any human ken about six times out of eight. You can tell what they are doing, but not why it should be so.

ANOTHER CROP.
A portion of the old crop of ball players is wearing out, to judge by the showing of so many youngsters this spring. Here we have the Yanks and Browns with a bunch of youngsters playing about as consistently as any other ball club in their league, and yet two years ago no one ever heard the names of twenty players from the two combined camps. Despite all scouting, both clubs look to be strong enough to make a battle of it with any contender, for a stretch if not for a season.

There is also a new managerial trend on hand. Branch Rickey and Buck Herzog are members of it. The new trend is to make a business of roughing-in a club. They are undoubtedly the managerial sensations of the year, having made good with material that a carload of veteran managers in the past had scrambled up.

"WHY CATCHERS ARE FEW."

BY FULLERTON.

The accident to Jimmy Block, the Chicago first catcher, who lost the ball until a runner reached second, recalls the happening at Rochester a few years ago that cost Toronto a tough game. The game had gone into extra innings, and every Toronto catcher was hurt. Doc Casey, who at that time was almost as good as dead, went in for the catch after his team scored one in the eleventh. With two out and two strikes on the score, Rochester runners were on second and third. Casey signaled for a pitch-out, and the slamban shot it wild and low. The ball vanished. The runner on third tore home, and Casey was reaching frantically under his chest protector. The ball was gone, followed, and before Casey could unbutton the straps and find the ball, which was wedged between his body and the protector, two runs had scored and the game was lost.

Chicago Gets Decision

CHICAGO, May 22.—James G. O'Brien, president of the Federal League, decided in favor of the Chicago club Thursday in the game of May 4 with the Buffalo club, which Manager Joe Tinker protested because of an umpire decision. Another game will have to be decided. Buffalo won the original game, 5 to 4.

IF IT'S to be had, Journal Wants will get it.

EDDIE HANLON PUTS KAYO ON PERRY IN THIRD ROUND

Eddie Hanlon, the local welterweight, who has been mixing it at odd times around the city with different pug of varying ability, put in the one big day's work of his career Thursday night when he handed Jimmy Perry, of Pittsburgh, a clean knockout. A rather small audience turned out to see the mill, and doubtless Hanlon and his manager, Billy Letts, enjoyed a rather lonesome distinction in figuring that Eddie carried off an outside chance to put Jim down for the count. It was admitted by all that Eddie carried a punch, but few figured that Perry would daily around within reach of this trip hammer.

The first round of the mill was a rather tame affair, with both boys feeling each other out, but things opened up a bit more freely in the second session. The two swapped punches two or three times, and shortly before the close Perry staggered. Eddie's right, and the local boy toppled him. Perry came up, however, and for the rest of the round neither did much damage.

In the third frame Perry rushed into Hanlon strongly, and was peppered the local pug rather gingerly. He landed to Hanlon's face several times and had him backing up. Then Eddie unleashed a right cross which clipped Jim squarely on the jaw, and he went down his full length on the floor. He struggled hard to regain his feet before he was counted out, and did manage to raise himself upon the ropes, but dropped thrice again, and Hanlon was awarded the battle.

The victory of the native son proved a great surprise to most everyone.

Motordrome to Offer Big Stunt
Manager Noen Hudson and his associates at the local motordrome have arranged one of the most interesting cards ever offered at the local track contest. In fact, the program offers a feature which has never been presented before. W. O. Edgar, who made such fast time in the recent hill climb contest in a late Marmon car, will attempt to drive this same car around the drome after the fashion of the motorcyclecyclists. When it is considered that the track is banked at an angle of thirty-eight degrees, and that Edgar will have to make better than sixty miles an hour to cling to its sloping sides, it can be appreciated just what this stunt will mean. Edgar will carry with him, in the capacity of mechanic, Britt Craig, a local newspaper reporter of old and ordinary predilection for adventure and excitement.

In addition to the automobile stunt, the regular riders will take part in a twenty-mile Marathon race, requiring 160 laps of the track. There will be ten men in the contest. Also Morty Graves, on his eight-valve Indian will attempt to lower the track record, which he now holds with a mark of 36 1/2 miles per hour.

Qualifying Round Played Thursday
RICHMOND, Va., May 22.—The qualifying round of the Middle Atlantic Golf association's fourth annual tournament was in progress at the Country Club of Virginia was played Thursday. Eighty-eight cards were turned in. Low score prize was won by George Small of the Baltimore Country club, with a card of 160 for 24 holes. The team trophy was captured by the Columbia Golf club of Washington, D. C., with the Country Club of Virginia second.

Travis Plays In Great Form

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 22.—At the conclusion of the second round of match play in the Metropolitan amateur golf championships tournament Thursday all favorites except Dwight Partridge, formerly of Yale, were among the surviving eight. Walter J. Travis in the morning defeated J. M. Blett, Garden City, 2 up, 1 to play, and this afternoon won from Gardiner White, up and 2 to play. Travis played out the bye holes for a card of 75, which equals the best score turned in so far in the tourney. Oswald Kirby also won both of his matches Thursday, but in the second he was carried to an extra hole by C. E. Vanveek, of Baltusrol.

Findlay S. Douglas, Apawamie, is another promising candidate for the championship.

George V. Brokaw, the Garden City expert, and Max R. Marston, of Baltusrol, last year's eastern intercollegiate champions, also are considered to have good chances.
